

Dr. Edward N. Tihen (1924-1991) was an avid reader and researcher of Wichita newspapers. His notes from Wichita newspapers -- the "Tihen Notes," as we call them -- provide an excellent starting point for further research. They present brief synopses of newspaper articles, identify the newspaper -- Eagle, Beacon or Eagle-Beacon -- in which the stories first appeared, and give exact references to the pages on which the articles are found. Microfilmed copies of these newspapers are available at the Wichita State University Libraries, the Wichita Public Library, or by interlibrary loan from the Kansas State Historical Society.

4. Feature article on the early history of St. Paul's Methodist Church at 13th and Waco. Says it started as one of two missions established by First Methodist Church. One was the Dodge Street Mission, which later became Trinity Methodist Church at Maple and Martinson. The other was the Twelfth Street Mission, which met initially in Park School until 1887 when a committee was appointed to organize it into a church. Lots were first purchased at 12th and Wichita Streets, but these were later sold and a new site bought at 13th and Waco. Contract was let on September 25, 1887 for a frame chapel 24 by 40 feet, costing when finished $1,000. First service in the new chapel was held October 23, 1887. The church was later incorporated in March 1888, and the congregation is today celebrating its 70th anniversary. Later the church leaders decided that a more advantageous location should be sought, and four lots were purchased at the corner of 13th and Lawrence (now Broadway) for $6500, with $1000 paid down. The chapel was moved to the site and first services were held there on August 26, 1888. Further details. Photos.

The Legislative Council at Topeka yesterday discussed the problems affecting mass transportation services in Kansas, especially in Wichita, Topeka, and Kansas City, but it decided against any action at this time, preferring to leave the matter to the local governments. In Wichita, bus service in 1943 averaged ten minutes between buses during the rush period, 15 minutes during the normal daytime periods, and 20 minutes at night and on Sunday and holidays. In 1956 the service had declined to 13 minutes in the rush period,

20 minutes during normal daytime periods, and an hour at night and on Sunday or holidays.
