Content Note

The C. Bernice Welter Papers contain five diaries which include events from her daily life of school, home, church and travel. Additionally, there is one diary which is apparently a man's diary of daily circumstances. Also included are writings by C. Bernice Welter concerning her trip to her home town of Fairbury, Nebraska, after not having been there for twenty years and a lengthy commentary on developing patriotism in young people. There are also a number of pictures, tin types and post cards from her life.

Detailed Description: Box and Folder Listing

Box 1	FF 1	Diary. First entry starts on Thursday, May 3, 1900 and ends with the last entry dated Saturday, May 5, 1901. The diary is a teacher's notations of daily routines and the weather in Nebraska.
-------	------	--

Box 1	FF 2	Diary. This journal is adapted to the year of use which is unknown at this time. The front of the diary says 1942. The entries include daily activities and information about a trip through Kansas.
Box 1	FF 3	Diary. This journal is adapted also. The front of the diary says 1946. It includes daily routines, travel in Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Texas and California. It also includes floor plans of different buildings she experienced on her trip.
Box 1	FF 4	Diary. This journal is dated 1865. This is not by the same person as the others. It appears to be a gentleman who wrote of weather, trade, occasional social outings, and also of church.
Box 1	FF 5	Diary. On the front page is "C.B.W. 1901-1902." The entries start with Monday, May 6 and end with Monday, June 9 of the following year. The author is the same as the first three diaries. It was during a time she was a young woman and attended college. She wrote of her college experiences and of the weather and other daily events.
Box 1	FF 6	Diary. On the front page is notated "C.B.W. 1902-1903." The entries start Tuesday, June 10 and end Wednesday, August 22 (possibly two years later). She wrote of daily events and weather, and of school and of her travels west.
